The Need

The true face of hunger is a mother working two jobs, children struggling to learn on an empty stomach, and a father skipping a meal so his children can eat. A family experiencing food insecurity is often struggling to pay for rent, utilities, medical care and other essential needs—and making difficult trade-offs that compromise their health while perpetuating a vicious cycle of instability.

The Work

West Ohio Food Bank is the largest food distribution system in West Ohio coordinating, collecting, warehousing and distributing food. Donations are secured from national food and grocery manufacturers, retailers, shippers, packers and growers and from government agencies, individuals and other organizations.

The Crew

Together with partner agencies, the West Ohio Food Bank is making progress in helping people overcome food insecurity trying to find their way to self-sufficiency. Distributing food and grocery items to people in need through food pantries and meal programs that serve children, adults, families, and seniors enables the client to take dollars that would be used to purchase food, to be put toward paying rent/mortgages, utilities, and strengthening our economy.

The Reward

West Ohio Food Bank is addressing hunger by increasing awareness and educating the public about hunger; connecting clients with federal benefits; collaborating with charitable partners at the local level to increase client stability; and, advocating for federal and state programs and policies that support low-income individuals.
